ASIA 114-010	Social Issues In Contemp China	IDPA-Interdepartmental Arts	Dramatic Economic, cultural and social changes are underway in China today and have aroused much debate among social scientists East and West. The following social issues are critical for understanding China's development trajectory: inequality and poverty; rapid demographic shifts; provision of health care services; provision of education services; and becoming an "information society." We will explore how these issues intersect with old hierarchies in China, urban-rural differences, and gender differences.	Topics
EES 002-010	Intro To Environmental Science	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Focuses on natural and human-induced drivers and consequences of environmental change. Exploring options for mitigating and adapting to environmental change in ecosystems, physical and social systems, we will examine such topics as biogeochemical cycles, population pressure, ecosystem diversity, productivity and food security, energy, water resources, climate change, pollution, ozone, urban issues and sustainability. Stresses interactions and interrelationships, using a series of case studies. Intended for any student with an interest in the environment. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Focused
EES 004-062	Science of Environmental Issues	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Analysis of current environmental issues from a scientific perspective. The focus on the course will be weekly discussions based on assigned readings.	Topics
EES 016-010	Geology Of War	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Introduction to Earth and Environmental Sciences through a study of the geologic underpinnings of human conflict, the geologic influences over the outcomes of great battles, and the long-term environmental impacts of war. Instructional format includes lectures, discussions, student projects, and a field trip to Gettysburg National Military Park. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Topics
EES 023-010	Weather & Climate past present future	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Introduction to the basic principles of meteorology, as they pertain to past, present, and future climates. Earth's energy balance; cloud formation and precipitation; winds and atmospheric circulation; regional climatologies; past warm periods and ice ages in Earth's history; the latest ideas about future climate change and global warming. Students will maintain a weather notebook to enable them to relate theory to observations from real weather data. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Topics
EES 025-011	Environment Of Living Systems	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	The course will provide an introduction to the role of the environment in regulating living systems at a variety of scales and levels of organization. The role of the environment in regulating and shaping populations, communities, and ecosystems will be explored. In addition, the role of the environment will be discussed as it relates to the origin, evolution, and diversity of life on earth. Whenever possible, the role of anthropogenic environmental change will be discussed as it relates to the above topics. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Topics
EES 026-010	Energy, Origins, Impacts & Opt	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Critical assessment of current and predicted energy resources used by humans, including their origins, distribution, environmental impacts, and feasibility. Lectures, discussion, field trips. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Topics

EES 027-010	Natural Hazards, Impact/Conseq	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Earthquakes, volcanoes, tsunamis, floods, and hurricanes are a natural part of the Earth and our environment. These events have violent consequences for our lives and significant economic implications. This course examines the causes, predictability, and risk mitigation for these events. We will also consider how natural disasters are represented by popular media and whether this helps or hurts public understanding of our dynamic planet and our relationship to it. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Topics
EES 028-010	Conservation and Biodiversity	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	An introduction to the science of conservation biology. We examine the evolution of biodiversity on earth, spatial patterns of biodiversity, the impact of human activities on biodiversity, and assess strategies for the management and conservation of biodiversity. Students gain the scientific literacy necessary to make informed decisions about topics such as wilderness preservation, species conservation, and land use. May be combined with EES 022 or EES 004 for 4 credits.	Focused
EES 100-010	Earth Systems Science	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Examination of the Earth as an integrated system. Study of interactions and feedbacks between key components such as the atmosphere, biosphere, geosphere, and hydrosphere to permit better understanding of the behavior of the system as a whole. Response of the Earth system to human perturbations such as land use and emissions are explored in the context of predictions of future environmental conditions and their projected impacts back on human systems. Lectures, class discussions, and lab.	Topics
EES 152-110	Ecology	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Basic principles and applications of ecological interrelationships. Examination of ecological phenomena at the individual, population, community, and ecosystem levels. Impact of human activities on global ecosystems.	Topics
EES 200-010	Earth History	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Review of the coevolution of Earth, life, climate, and the environment, and introduction to the records used to constrain this history. The course addresses environmental changes at both geologic and human time spans. Includes laboratory exercises and field trips.	Topics
EES 250-110	Terrestrial Ecosystems	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Ecosystem ecology in the context of the Earth system; discussion of mechanisms by which terrestrial ecosystems function, including the flow of water and energy and the cycling of carbon and nutrients; characterization of temporal and spatial patterns in ecosystem processes and their sensitivity to environmental and biotic changes; integration of global scale effects of these processes. Includes lectures, field trips and laboratories.	Topics
EES 379-010	Environmental Case Studies	EES-Earth & Environmental Sciences	Case studies will be used to explore the impact of politics, economics, society, technology, and ethics on environmental projects and preferences. Environmental issues in both affluent and developing countries. Multidisciplinary student teams investigate site characterization; environmental remediation design; environmental policy; and political, financial, social, and ethical implications of environmental projects.	Topics
ENTP 307-010	Int'l Social Entrepreneurship	IDPC-Interdepartmental Collegiate	International social entrepreneurship aims to change the world through innovation in solving social problems. Focus on the nexus between social entrepreneurship and development practice, especially in relation to NGOs. Emphasis on acquiring the tools and conceptual framework to launch a new social venture through real world hands-on field work and team-oriented learning by doing. Exposure to best practices in field methods with respect to development projects, to how to affect meaningful social change in poor countries, to generate and evaluate innovative ideas for poverty reduction, to develop those ideas into concrete on-the-ground start-up plans, and to take initial steps to implement them. It is recommended, but not required, that students have some previous experience with development or entrepreneurship, such as through enrollment in ENTP 101 or IR 322 or Eco 303 or CEE 205.	Topics
ES 001-010	Intro To Environmental Studies	IDPA-Interdepartmental Arts	Gateway to the field of Environmental Studies, the course surveys central issues and themes confronting humanity in the natural world on a national and global basis. Topics include humankind's role in environmental change; society's response to the dynamism of nature; cultural evaluations of nature; population dynamics; resource availability and pollution sinks; land use patterns; sustainability and consumerism; environmental justice and ethics; policy and planning. ES 093-081	Internship in EI	IDPA-Interdepartmental Arts	The Lehigh Earth Observatory (LEO) is a distributed, multidisciplinary program that focuses study on the environment with a particular emphasis on understanding the science of environmental systems and the relationship between these systems and society. LEO has a focus on environmental systems, drawing students from a variety of disciplines including policy, management, economics, journalism, business, art, and philosophy in addition to science and engineering. Field projects contribute to an overall theme of postindustrial land use and development as it impacts the natural environment of the Lehigh Valley, and may include long-term monitoring programs, or individually designed projects that contribute to the overall mission that includes science, engineering, policy, communications, ethics, social dynamics, and other environmentally pertinent aspects of the region. Students work with a faculty advisor on individually designed projects. Projects may involve technical, social, educational, or other outreach activities, and NS, SS, or HU credits are designated as appropriate. This course is intended for first time participants. Past projects and more details about LEO are available at http://www.leo.lehigh.edu . Students should contact the Environmental Initiative for departmental permission to register.	Topics
ES 105-010	Environmental Policy& Planning	IDPA-Interdepartmental Arts	Analysis of the framework that has been established to protect the environment and promote sustainable growth. Focus on the roles of the different branches of the U.S. government and the relative responsibilities of state and local governments within this framework. Consideration of the political nature of environmental issues and the social forces influencing environmental protection in different areas of domestic environmental policy, such as climate change, toxic waste disposal and natural resources conservation.	Focused
ES 121-010	Environment And Culture	IDPA-Interdepartmental Arts	Impact of environment upon cultural variability and change. Comparative study of modern and past cultures and their environments as well as current theories of human/environmental interaction.	Topics
